

Brian Buma , Ph.D.
Assistant Professor
Department of Integrative Biology

Join us for Faculty Grant Writing Symposium

Come to Learn About:

- Grant Writing Best Practices
- How to pitch your research
- What reviewers really want

Cathy Bodine ,Ph.D.
Associate Professor
College of Engineering & Applied Sciences

Grant writing is an essential skill for a successful and productive researcher, but one that takes work and experience to hone. Join us for our 2019 Denver Grant Writing Symposium and hear from seasoned researchers and grant writers on how to work with Program Officers, pitch your project for a grant, and get insights about the grant review process and what reviewers are looking for in your proposal. You'll leave with best practices in grant writing, as well as resources to help you start your academic year off on the right foot!

DATE & TIME

October 30, 2019 @ 9:30AM – 1:00PM

LOCATION:

CU Building, Rm 470

Ron Tzur, PhD
Professor
School of Education & Human Development

Office of Research
Development and Education

UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO
DENVER | ANSCHUTZ MEDICAL CAMPUS

Registration: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/DENGrantWritingSymposium>