All faculty are invited to the informal Fellow's Talk and Research Social Hour series hosted by the CRC (Creative Research Collaborative). The CRC seeks to support events, partnerships, and networks that create new or reinforce existing collaborative cross-disciplinary activities across the UCDenver campus. Successful collaborative research stems from a diverse and highly integrated community. The CRC social events are hosted so faculty from across the campus can meet and get to know the research interests of faculty in other disciplines and colleges.
